The Gate Clock

Greenwich

This world-famous clock is mounted on the wall by the double gates leading into the Royal Greenwich Observatory. Installed in 1852, the gate clock is 'the public face of Greenwich Mean Time'. The map of the area drawn a few years earlier, in 1869, shows that there was a brewery behind the site of these premises. The malt kilns were a long-standing local landmark. For many years, part of the site was occupied by a beer retailer.
